

Youth Programs Covid Standards

These are the standards by which Climb is operating and also the standards that we are to communicate with all staff and clientele (pre/during/post). For the purposes of this standard, “climber” describes any youth climber participating in a Climb team or other youth program.

COVID-19 Protocols

- Climbers, staff members and coaches will be required to follow gym protocols related Covid-19
- Temperatures will be checked upon arrival; any with a temperature at or above 100 degrees will be required to go home
- Masks are required throughout the facility at all times
- All climbers will be kept in small groups, “pods,” which will avoid overlapping
- Meal times take place outside, all climbers and coaches are distanced (at least 6 ft.), during this time

Hand Washing

- Intermittent hand washing opportunities during the course of youth programs will be provided

Symptoms

People with COVID-19 have had a wide range of symptoms reported – ranging from mild symptoms to severe illness. Symptoms may appear 2-14 days after exposure to the virus. People with these symptoms may have COVID-19:

- Fever or chills
- Cough
- Shortness of breath or difficulty breathing
- Fatigue
- Muscle or body aches
- Headache
- New loss of taste or smell
- Sore throat
- Congestion or runny nose
- Nausea or vomiting
- Diarrhea

This list does not include all possible symptoms. CDC will continue to update this list as we learn more about COVID-19.

Symptomless to Symptom Communication

- Any climber who is in proximity to another climber or coach, who is without symptoms but later reports a symptom, within their specific pod, will be made aware of a potential symptomless exposure
- Any climber, staff member or coach who have come in contact with a known symptomless exposure, that is later determined as a positive exposure, are recommended to be tested for Covid-19 but will be permitted to continue work and climb until a symptom is presented

Symptom Expectations

- Any climber exhibiting symptoms is expected to remain home
- Any staff member or coach exhibiting symptoms is expected to remain home

Positive Test Communication

- Any positive test by either a climber or coach will be disclosed directly to the parent of any youth climber in attendance via phone call with the following details:
 - Known interaction dates and positive test date
 - All personal details will remain undisclosed to protect privacy
- Any positive test by either camper, team member, staff member or coach will be disclosed directly to all coinciding staff persons during the course of the shift. All personal details will remain undisclosed to protect privacy.
